About EducationUSA Nigeria

The U.S. Mission's EducationUSA Advising Center promotes U.S. higher education by providing students and parents in Nigeria with accurate, comprehensive, and current information on U.S. universities and colleges. Services include guidance on the U.S. college application process, standardized testing, student visa requirements, scholarship opportunities, and pre-departure orientation.

According to Institute of International Education's Open Doors Report, 9,494 Nigerian students are currently studying in the United States; Nigeria recorded a placement increase of nearly 20 percent fueling almost single-handedly Africa's 8 percent increase in African students studying in the United States. That puts Nigeria in first place among African nations selecting the United States as a destination country for study and in 15th place worldwide.

Students may visit the EducationUSA Advising Centers at the U.S. Embassy in Abuja and at the U.S. Consulate General in Lagos. For further information, please visit http://nigeria.usembassy.gov/educational_advising.html.
